Our Story

"Life evolves around good food and great times." A motto that is known all too well between close friends, especially the owners of One Block East, Mike Ford and Tony Hancock. These two comrades understand what it is to enjoy life. Always looking for a spectacular time, New Orleans became a staple in decisions to satisfy their festive needs. It offered a metropolis of delicious variety that was never a moment without scrumptious food, unique cocktails or everlasting memories. Yet, the party had to come to an end eventually and this did not sit well for these social searching pals. Idea after idea was tossed around to bring a New Orleans environment to the great people of Jackson. After all, these innovators knew they had to transport the same fun filled experiences back to their own home town and offer a one of a kind New Orleans style appreciation that only they could relay. In 2014, One Block East, situated just one block east of State St., was born out of one of the biggest party days Jackson has to offer, St. Paddy's Day. Amidst all of the intoxicating spirits and newfangled memories, One Block East delivered its purpose and the people fell in love. Reminiscent of a New Orleans style venue, One Block East offers soul comforting food, signature drinks, and an inviting staff that collectively completes a mesmerizing experience that never stops. Open seven days a week until the wee hours of the morn, One Block East ensures that there is a place for you to go no matter who you are.
